contribute to the improvement of the quality of education in the Departments of Architecture established in various universities in Turkey.

To improve the quality of architectural education and to spread the quality with the participation of all departments' architectural undergraduate and graduate programs, and for the quality improvement in education to contribute to the entry into the architectural professional environment and welfare-providing employment for architects; we aim to have more university candidates, architecture students, architecture faculty members and graduate architects who are interested in the field of architecture to request accreditation. In line with this goal, we have planned to organize meetings, workshops, and events on a national, regional, and city scale to better explain our work. We believe that you will contribute to the improvement and sustainability of the quality of architectural education by participating in and discussing these events.

In the coming years, MiAK will continue its accreditation, external quality assessment, and information activities for architectural education programs with the voluntary work and due support of all its supporters and stakeholders.
